

PLANS ARE LAID TO RAISE $38000 FOR PARK HERE

Representatives of Eight Organizations Told Work Will Start Soon

Enthusiastic approval of the $50,000 Washington Park project and expressions of willingness to aid in the drive for the $38,000 needed to complete the fund, were voiced by a group of men representing seven organizations in addition to the Rotary Club at a special meeting of campaign finance committee Wednesday night. The meeting was held in the assembly room of the Washington Hotel which had been courteously offered by the hotel management for this and future meetings of groups working on the park project.

Chairman A. B. Murray presided over the meeting which was attended by the members of the finance and publicity committees and the following representatives of various organizations: Lions Club, President W. L. O'Brien and Robert Craig, chairman of the youth committee; American Legion, Herbert Wilson; Eagles, Harry R. Mack; Elks, Eugene McClain; Moose, W. E. McKinney; Disabled American Veterans, Glen Murphy; Veterans of Foreign Wars, Allen Sells.

The nature of the campaign to raise funds, proposed plans for the Washington Park, purposes of the park and its value as an asset to the community, were explained at length by those who had mapped out the general project. Representatives of the various organizations asked questions and were given all available information regarding the entire undertaking. At the close of the meeting there was unanimous agreement that the whole plan was worthy of entire city and countywide cooperative support and that each representative would carry the message to his particular organization and urge both organization and individual help from all members.

Park Work Begins Soon

In the course of the meeting it was made clear that actual work on the park is to begin at the earliest possible moment after plans and blueprints are completed by Hugh Kennedy, representing the planning section of the state highway department which has offered full cooperation.

Another matter which was brought out as an aspect of the whole plan which should be made clear to the public, was that the park here will be a home project the results of which will be a benefit to the city and county permanently in future, something which whole families and organizations can enjoy by reason of its being made attractive as a beauty spot and being equipped for picnics and sports in addition to the swimming pool which will be constructed as quickly as restrictions on materials permit.

As one of the attending organization representatives brought out it will furnish a much needed recreation center for children and young people as well as adults and as such may prove a wonderful community asset in providing a place which may lessen any tendency on the part of some toward juvenile delinquency.

The Lions Club which, with the Rotarians, assumes the chief burden of carrying through the financial drive, has outlined plans for thorough coverage of city, village and rural districts by solicitors for subscriptions.

RURAL FIRE HAZARD DISCUSSED BY F. B.

Fire Equipment and County Hospital Also Subjects

Rural fire fighting equipment, a hospital for Fayette County and Bangs disease vied for the spotlight when the Union Township Farm Bureau Council I met with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Coll.

It was reported that "some progress" had been made in the rural fire protection movement. The entire council voiced approval of a county hospital.

In discussing Bangs disease, a county-wide test was given unanimous support. The prevalence of the disease in hogs also was discussed but no action was taken in an attempt to stamp it out.

decision to remove production restrictions, "providing it is done in an orderly fashion."

"I would like to underscore the need for an orderly relinquishment of war time program restrictions, however," Stewart said. He added:

"It is important that the smaller war plants corporation be authorized to extend emergency priorities to small concerns for materials and component parts. The struggle goes to the strong. Even with a 40 per cent cutback there will be an insufficient supply in many lines to give everybody a break."

Farm Plan Studied

A special House unit was created today, charged with the responsibility of planning the nation's agricultural future and putting farmers "on a business-like basis."

Chairman Fulmer (D-SC) of the House agricultural committee, disclosed he had established the group and named Rep. Pace (D-Ga) as chairman.

"Unless we can have a constructive, prosperous agricultural future it is going to be impossible to formulate a real well-balanced postwar program dealing with other matters," Fulmer told a reporter.

"We've got to bring about mass production of farm products in the same way industry has done with its output."

"We must put our farmers on a business like basis, so we have not only orderly production, but orderly marketing."

"If we don't do this we will drift into large corporation farming."

Fulmer said hearings will begin soon, with Secretary of Agriculture and War Food Administrator Jones as initial witnesses.

FIRE PROTECTION FOR FARMS URGED

F. B. Council Discusses Gasoline Conservation

At a recent meeting of the Union Township Farm Bureau Council No. 3, a resolution was passed in favor of providing fire protection in Union Township.

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cowdrey, with Loren Reif presiding.

Dr. A. R. Mangus, Ohio State University, will speak at the Farm Bureau office Friday evening, it was announced and officers of the council were urged to attend.

John Weade had charge of the discussions during the session, and the main topic taken up was: "Three Roads to Health—Which Shall We Follow?"

After considerable discussion the council went on record as opposing the private doctors' plan.

Mrs. Herbert Clickner, Mrs. John Weade and Walter Thompson were named to be in charge of the discussions in October when the meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith.

YANKS MAKE ESCAPE AFTER HEINIES GET RANGE ON THEIR TANK

"We heard there were no Germans in France," he said, "so we lit out for Metz. At Jouville we ran into German infantry with mortars and 88's. At that point we took what the air force calls evasive action—and we ran out of gas."

"Our tank was like a clay pigeon, and the Germans started pouring it on. We took to the woods, and the minute the last man was out an enemy shell hit right on the turret."

"When the fire died out, we borrowed 10 gallons from another tank and started on, but we got it again and had to get out. The engines were still running, but that was about all that was left of our tank."

At last reports, "Cover Girl" was limping to the rear and the company was hunting a new tank to ride into Metz.

Sgt. Leonard A. Piccolantonio of Canton, Ohio, was with one of the infantry units that had slogged right up to the border.

"We've been around since Cherbourg, and we'll still be there pitching when we reach Berlin," he said.

000 for school building improvements and $275,000 to reimburse school boards which borrowed money to pay teacher salaries.

The legislature also completed enactment of a measure suspending, for the Nov. 7 election only, the law requiring that ballots be marked with a black lead pencil.

The legislation was drafted for the special benefit of members of the armed forces and permits them, as well as civilians, to mark their ballots with any available instrument.

Both bills were passed unanimously in perhaps the shortest Ohio legislative session since the general assembly met for one day in 1926. The assembly convened Tuesday night and adjourned sine die last night.

declared war on Germany to put the Balkan country at war with both sides. The Bulgars pleaded with Russia for an armistice soon after the Kremlin declared war during a time in which armistice negotiations with the United States and Britain were bogged down.

The Germans said the Russians crossed the Danube in the area of Giurju and Ruse, Romanian and Bulgar towns facing each other across the river, and in the area north of Sofia. The Russian plunge to the iron gate of the Danube yesterday gave them control of all the north frontier of Bulgaria.

Warsaw Liberation Near

In northern Poland, a great battle that may liberate Warsaw and carry the war into East Prussia increased in violence with two Russian army groups attacking along a 35-mile front along the Narew River and on the close eastern approaches of the Polish capital. The Narew fortress town of Ostroleka was toppled yesterday and the Russians moved on within 23 miles of the southern border of East Prussia.

Red Star declared that 791,000 Germans had been killed on the long eastern front in the summer offensive from June 23 through Aug. 31. Other hundreds of thousands have been reported captured.

"Until now, the Germans kept their main forces on the Soviet front, shifting three divisions from occupied European countries and from Germany itself," the army newspaper said. "The Hitlerite command does not conceal the fact that its main task is to prevent invasion from the east."

Junction With Guerrillas

An imminent large scale junction of the Red army and Tito's forces on Yugoslav soil was expected to block the Germans' last overland escape route from the Balkans.

A 50-mile fringe of foothills at the southwestern base of the Transylvanian Alps was all that separated the Red army from the Great Plain which embraces Budapest and most of Hungary and includes Hitler's most important remaining wheat basin. The Hungarian frontier itself was 122 miles distant.

Before Warsaw, Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky drove the Germans from the ruins of Wolomin, seven miles from the capital's eastern limits, and sent tanks thrusting almost to the

ALLIES MANEUVERING FOR KNOCK OUT BLOW AGAINST NAZI GERMANY

It is declared now at supreme headquarters that earlier unofficial reports from the Paris radio and the Swiss-French frontier saying the Americans had reached Liege or the German border city of Aachen apparently were incorrect.

Southern France

Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh Army pushing up the Saone Valley of southern France was believed to have reached within 60 miles of contact with Patton's forces. French troops approached the communications center of Dijon in Burgundy without encountering serious resistance and there was no indication of the present position of the main German force. American troops drove toward the strategically important Doubs Valley adjoining the western border of Switzerland.

In northern Italy American forces occupied the city of Lucca 10 miles northeast of Pisa and pushed back the Germans to within less than six miles of the main Gothic Line defenses. British warships in the Adriatic again teamed up with the Eighth Army, shelling German defenses in the Rimini area.

Aerial Assaults

Flying from new bases in southern France, American thunderbolts have smashed at a fleeing Nazi convoy within 20 miles of the German frontier, the Mediterranean Allied air force announced today.

At least 30 vehicles were destroyed. Three locomotives were blown up, nine others were damaged, it was announced. A tank, field gun and 15 railcars were destroyed.

During September's first five days, tactical fighter bombers in southern France and northern Italy destroyed or damaged 1,563 vehicles, 130 locomotives, 746 railcars, 12 boats and 49 pontoon bridges, mostly in the Po Valley, it was announced.

Despite dismal weather, RAF mosquitos based in Britain hammered the German seaport of Hamburg last night while other Mosquitos based in France strafed Nazi transports from Utrecht to Arnhem in the Netherlands and near Dusseldorf in Germany. A strong force of RAF heavy bombers, escorted by fighters, smashed at the smaller port of Emden just before dark yesterday. The bombing was "concentrated," the air ministry said.

NWF GIFT WILL BENEFIT ALL 22 OF ITS AGENCIES

Three Funds for Home Use Are Included in Campaign For Relief Here

In the National War Fund, as in no other organization, can one gift benefit so many causes, NWF committeemen here say.

Besides the three funds which will benefit people right here in Washington C. H.—the Lions Club Canteen, Boy Scouts and 4-H Club camp improvement—which are included in the roster of agencies in the NWF proper, relief organizations for allied nations and occupied countries; refugee relief and services for our own American fighting men will benefit also.

For our own men it means the USO, a home away from home for the men and women of our armed forces in their off-duty hours.

It means USO-camp shows which keep them laughing; United Seamen's Service, which provides recreation and serves the needs of our seamen in ports all over the globe; War Prisoners Aid for thousands who languish in prison camps and whose lives are bounded by barbed wire.

For our allies it means care and rehabilitation for child war victims; food for those whose lands were stripped by the Axis hordes; medical aid for the undernourished and ill; shelter for many victims of ruin and pillage; clothing for those whose homes and belongings have been swept away by war; assistance and aid in starting life anew for thousands who have escaped from the terrors of Axis occupation of their homelands.

Specifically, the member agencies of the National War Fund are: USO, United Seamen's Service, War Prisoners' Aid; Belgian War Relief Society; United China Relief; United Czechoslovak Relief; National American Denmark Association; French Relief Fund; Greek War Relief Association; American Relief for Italy; Friends of Luxembourg; American Relief for Norway; Polish War Relief; Queen Wilhelmina Fund; Russian War Relief; United Yugoslav Relief Fund; Refugee Relief Trustees and the U. S. Committee for the Care of European Children.

The Coming Vote

We heard a Fayette County politician, the other day, offer to bet that the total vote in Fayette County this fall, and also the total vote in the state of Ohio at the coming November election would be far from as heavy as in 1940.

At first it seemed rather astonishing that this might be true, but some calculating would make the average observer inclined to agree with this politician.

It is pointed out that since 1940 there has been a rather alarming drop in the voting at elections. Some decline in this volume is to be expected between presidential elections but the decrease in the last four years has been rather ominous.

Nearly 50 millions persons voted in 1940. This year the Gallup poll estimates the number will be 40 million. Since 88 million Americans are of voting age, there is the possibility that the Nov. 7 elections may represent a minority choice—no matter what candidates are chosen. And that isn't desirable.

There are some unavoidable reasons behind the forecast of a light vote. Certainly all service men and women won't vote. Many transplanted war workers will not be able to meet residence requirements in new locations. But there are also a great number of people who through lack of information or interest won't vote unless something is done about them.

To interest the careless ones therefore becomes a community, neighborhood and home job in which everyone should be interested who believes in popular government, regardless of party affiliation.

The talking points are obvious. This is one of the most important elections in our country's history. There are areas of political agreement in the campaign, but there are also clear-cut differences which demand choice.

Political indifference brings on national paralysis and national disaster, as the people of Italy and Germany and France discovered. Today the liberated and occupied countries fully appreciate the precious and long-denied right to choose their public servants, and they are eagerly and joyously awaiting its restoration.

Confronted with the spectacle of recent European history it is amazing that any American enjoying the privileges of free citizenship (including the right to complain about the government) can confess an "indifference" to politics. We cannot afford indifference. The history of four fateful years depends upon the President and Congress that the majority of American voters send into office next January.

For Sober Consideration

Newspaper accounts of the celebrations which followed the news that Paris was liberated set us to wondering what American reaction will be when the fighting ceases in Europe and later in the Far East. Anyone who remembers Nov. 11, 1918, in this country, remembers that it was the day of jubilation. But we venture to predict that the next Armistice Day will find us in a different mood.

Armistice Day in 1918, for all the undertone of sorrow and all the lives lost, was somewhat like a football victory at the

Hints on Etiquette

In attending an anniversary reception, if you are a young girl who is going with the son of the house, go at once to the host and hostess, congratulate the former and offer best wishes to the latter. Stand and talk if there is no one else conversing with them; then move away if others come. If they are surrounded, greet them and walk away, but be sure to go back before you leave and tell them what a pleasant time you have had.

Today's Horoscope

You have great executive ability, are authoritative, determined, persevering, and self-reliant. You should go far in your chosen field. You enjoy reading good books and like to travel. You have high aims and ideals and have the respect and esteem of friends and associates. You will gain in various ways in the next 12 months. Do not be afraid to adopt new business methods, relying on your own intuitions, but guarding against excessive expenditures. Born today a child will evince good business sense and capabilities, and go far in life, although difficulties will occasionally arise through the jealousy of others.

annual homecoming game. There were bands and noisemakers and confetti and dancing in the streets. But we are likely to view the next Armistice Day as one that marks the passing of a crisis in a serious illness and the beginning of a long convalescence.

On Nov. 11, 1918, the fight was won and peace had come to stay. Only the very cynical or the very far-seeing doubted that. Kings had lost their thrones; we embraced a world made safe for democracy. The war to end war was itself ended.

Today we can already see the tremendous job that lies beyond peace. We can see it in Italy, where, while fighting continues, long-submerged parties and old rivalries have been reborn as the country struggles painfully toward stable government. We shall shortly see France tackle her hard problem of clearing out the decayed remnants of the Third Republic and founding a new, united Fourth.

The Balkans will have to bind up the reopened wounds of ageless, endless quarrels. Then China must resolve her unhappy internal situation. And these are only political problems. Such problems as food, health and currency, equally or more important, must be worked on at the same time.

Our armies in France have begun to capture the young first-line, Nazi-nurtured cream of Hitler's forces. Interviews with these arrogant prisoners, ignorant of all culture save Hitler's, emphasize the staggering job of de- and re-educating that must be done in Germany. There is an equally difficult task of the same sort ahead of us in Japan.

It is well that we know how sick the world has been, and how contagious that sickness can be. Perhaps knowing will enable us to help nurse the world to real health this time—even though the magnitude of the task leaves little inclination for dancing in the streets when the European war ends.

Psychosomatic Ills

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

THE LATEST subject which is fluttering the doves of medical thought is called psychosomatic medicine. Its fundamental thesis is that many, if not most, of the chronic illnesses of mankind result partly from bodily or physical derangements (soma—the body) and partly from the state of the patient's mind and soul (psycho—soul) and really by an interaction of both of them. There is nothing startlingly new about this, but the recent studies have served to focus it and state clearly the objectives of treatment in such cases.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The specialty of psychosomatics has already attained considerable respectability. Dr. Henry Christian, of Harvard, in editing the latest edition of Osler's Textbook of Medicine, which has for over half a century been the bible of practitioners, puts a chapter on psychosomatic disorders at the very beginning of the book. There are two text books published devoted exclusively to the subject, and the whole issue of the last number of the Medical Clinics of North America is labeled "Psychosomatic Medicine."

Idea of Psychosomatics

There is a man who has the disease and the disease which has the man. That is the basic idea of psychosomatics. In the case of the acute diseases—infections, traumas, neoplasms—the relationship is fairly simple and the entities of body and mind are fairly separate. But in many other conditions they depend on a long stretch of background of association and partnership of brother body and brother mind and brother soul.

The human organism passes through levels of growth and development. They can be roughly classified and described thus:

1. The somatic phase. The baby is nearly all body. As development proceeds the child begins to have ideas about his bodily functions. Household environment conditions this to a considerable extent. If the parents are fussy, and that means fussy beyond the requirements of hygiene, about what foods are good or "bad for you," or about regularity of the bowels, or exaggerate little upsets—such as temperature rises—there is always the possibility that the psyche will be overly conscious of the body, and these ideas are frequently carried over into adult life.

Development of Ego

2. The narcissistic stage—the development of the ego. This, as we all know, can be over-developed, and accounts for the psychology of the only child. Brothers and sisters teach the child there are other people in the world, all just as important as he is.

3. The sunderistic stage—which is awareness of other humans of the same sex, begins about the age of five and lasts until puberty.

4. The altergenderistic stage—during which there is adaptation to humans of the other gender. It is hardly necessary to expatiate on how much foundation for future ill health—mental and bodily—is laid down in this stage.

5. The phase of adjustment of all the stages that have gone before. In most of us the adjustment is pretty good—surprisingly good as we look back on the possibilities. In others not so good—and these are the patients of the psychosomatic doctors.

We will consider them in more detail tomorrow.

SYNOPSIS

A leading and popular resident of Talbot, sleepy little Chesapeake Bay village, is MRS. EUNICE REYNOLDS, elderly and unable to walk, but the possessor of young ideas. She has been dominated by her strong-willed granddaughter.

LAURA, who lives with her, Mrs. Reynolds hires

ANNE WILSON, personable young New Yorker, to be her nurse. Long-time fiance of Laura is

RUSSELL SMITH, conservative young attorney. The placidity of Russell is shattered by the arrival, after a long absence, of his outspoken, liberal brother, DAN.

YESTERDAY: Dan, Russell and Anne have a delightfully informal dinner together at Russell's house.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

RUSSELL found himself caught up with Dan's excitement as the latter prepared dinner for the two of them and their guest, Anne Wilson. Dan tossed salad into the bowl and said he'd lived on various grasses so much that he could move perfectly. He knew all about salads. He'd worked in a restaurant in Long Beach where all he did was make salads. He'd been a pearl diver in San Diego.

"Pearls in California?" queried Anne. "That is news to me."

"Also to my chamber of commerce, beautiful one. Pearl diver means dishwasher. You have no idea what a remarkable dishwasher I am. After supper I'll demonstrate. I do best when I sing, but I won't impose too much on my audience."

Anne laughed. "I thought dishes would be my job."

Russell bowed. "You are our guest."

"But I am not contributing anything. And I haven't any talents."

"When beauty is perfect, it is all talents and all-sufficient."

Russell, the careful, rising young lawyer, hadn't intended saying anything like that to this smiling young girl whom he had wanted to question seriously. He felt himself flushing while Dan shouted, "Bravo, old boy! You have come to life."

Anne touched Russell's hand and her eyes were bright. "I've never been so beautifully flattered. No wonder people are crazy about Talbot. And don't you dare try to apologize and tell me you didn't mean to say it. That would be heartrending."

Russell rose to the occasion. "I did mean it. Beauty is all-sufficient and—"

The door bell rang sharply. Dan, who was facing the front porch, cried, "Come right on in, Laura."

Russell's face was red as he leaped to his feet. Laura came into the room quietly. She was dressed with more care than usual, and her hair was newly waved. She smiled at Russell and patted his arm, then held out her hand to Dan.

"We haven't seen you in years. You're looking very well."

Dan's eyes were mocking as he bowed over her hand elaborately. "You're more beautiful than ever."

"I used to dream about you out on the desert."

"Especially when you were thirsty." Laura's laugh was like ice in a thin glass. "But I'm not a mirage. I looked in and saw everyone so jolly. No one was home, so I thought I'd come and beg a crust with friends."

She stressed the last word ever so slightly. Anne had now also risen quietly to her feet. Russell spoke quickly.

"Of course you know Miss Wilson, Laura."

Laura flashed a smile. "You know I don't, Russell. She held out her hand. 'I seem to keep missing you, Miss Wilson. I was surprised not to find you at home.'"

"Your mother gave me the evening off, since she was with Miss Molly."

"Of course. She knew you had friends. I hated to intrude on such a gay party. I see you like beer, Miss Wilson. You must order a case at the house so you won't lack for anything. I suppose you've known Dan a long time."

"We met just two hours ago," Anne said calmly. "It was very kind of him to invite a complete stranger to dinner."

Laura waved her hand. "There are no strangers in Talbot. And mother told me how much you fitted in. Now I can appreciate it better. It isn't often this little street rings with such laughter. I could hear Russell saying that beauty is all-sufficient. He's such a flatterer. I hope you won't believe half of what he tells you, especially after a few beers. I'm not ruining you, am I, Russell?"

He was once more stolid, in complete command of himself. "You might like some dinner, so do sit down. We'll warm up—"

She patted his cheek and cut in smoothly. "Just a little salad for me. It looks tempting. I'm sure Miss Wilson fixed it." She sat and smoothed her dress.

Anne said, "Mr. Smith did everything."

"You, Russell? How sweet. After we're married you'll be such a help. I didn't realize."

He made no answer, but heaped salad on a plate for her. Dan looked from one to the other, then winked at Anne, who sat very still. Getting no response, he pushed back his chair noisily and went for coffee. He returned, dragging his feet, and banged the kitchen pot on the table. He had suddenly stopped smiling. Laura patted Russell's arm.

"Dan always was unconventional, wasn't he?" She turned to Anne with sugary sweetness. "And you, Anne, what time was mother expecting you to go for her? She likes to come home very early, you know. It's your job to keep her from overdoing."

Anne rose quietly. "I think I'd better go along now and see how she is."

Russell looked up quickly. "But you said this was an evening off."

Dan got up, too. "I'll go with you, Anne. I want to say hello to the old girl."

Laura beamed. "They're leaving the dishes for you, Russell."

Dan grinned. "You're here to help, Laura," he said. "Good night."

It was two weeks later and the sun was so much warmer this afternoon that Mrs. Reynolds had moved her wheel chair into the shade of the trees that lined the edge of the Public Lot down by the water's edge. Mrs. Reynolds felt very well and at peace with the world. There was a good breeze under the trees, and it seemed a long time ago since here had been a military school here and this had been the parade ground for the young cadets.

She had liked to look at uniforms then. They didn't have much military meaning. All war seemed meaningless in those days so long before the first World War. Now there was a second one in Europe. She didn't like to think of it. She wouldn't listen to radio reports about it.

It was better to think how well grown these trees were under which she sat, trees which had been planted only after the military school burned down and no more boys with shining, eager faces marched here, now and again turning to look at the sailing vessels coming out of Baltimore.

Labor Makes Big Strides in Politics

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS

WASHINGTON — One hundred and thirty-eight years ago, striking shoemakers in Philadelphia were prosecuted criminally for a combination to raise wages.

Seven weeks ago a combination of unions (AFL and CIO) was influential enough reputationally to squelch a vice presidential possibility (James F. Byrnes) because he did not share their views on wages and certain issues.

Such has been the progress of States. In that interval, organized labor has had an exciting history of political ups and downs, but never before has it approached the national influence it wields today.

Labor's experiments with an independent political party on the whole have been failures.

Successes have been only local and temporary. The most notable, perhaps, was the Farmers-Labor party in Minnesota. The party elected several governors, senators and representatives, but its power has waned. A more recent example of independent political action was New York's American Labor party. Its fibre was labor unions, but like so many earlier attempts, it was torn by internal dissension and conflicting philosophies.

Labor made its great national bid outside the two major parties in 1924. That was the year of the unsuccessful LaFollette-Wheeler ticket. The American Federation of Labor has never since endorsed a political party as such.

Even the CIO Political Action Committee, while endorsing a ticket for national offices, maintains it is non-partisan.

History shows that when a labor party did gain a foothold the old party politician turned up as the "friend of labor" and made one or more of the labor party's planks his own.

Labor made a successful effort in 1936 through Labor's non-Partisan League. That year was notable for an acknowledged contribution of a half-million dollars by the United Mine Workers to the candidacy of President Roosevelt.

Historically, the major story of the 1944 Democratic national convention perhaps was labor's influence. The AFL and the CIO diluted each other's strength to some extent. Had they been united, they might have named the vice presidential nominee.

Labor's real test, competent observers believe, will be the congressional elections. Meantime, the CIO PAC already is credited publicly with more successes than it is willing to claim. Whatever the future holds, there is little doubt that the political chiefs today are bending an ear to labor.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — The affair of Wilson vs. friends of Nelson in the War Production Board is just one more squabble in the administration that has plagued President Roosevelt almost from the day the national defense program started.

The fight that was followed by WPB Director Donald Nelson's going to China on a special mission, from which he may not return to his old post, and Executive Vice Chairman Charles E. Wilson's going back to private life as head of General Electric had been simmering for months.

Nobody here was particularly surprised when the row came into the open. The behind the scenes story follows a pattern that goes back to the first days of defense.

WPB has been a hot bed for these personal feuds, but it has had no monopoly on them. Few persons remember the sniping that caused Lt. Gen. William S. Knudsen to leave the original National Defense Advisory Council. Gen. Knudsen's scrap wasn't with any one man or group, unless it was with the presidential labor advisor, Sidney Hillman. His enemies, however, made ammunition out of the lack of speed with which some major manufacturers converted to war production and the fact that big business was getting nearly all big contracts with no stipulation about sub-contracting.

Also early in the picture was the Leon Henderson row with Harold L. Ickes. Here again, it wasn't one man that forced Henderson out as OPA director, but criticism of his handling of price controls and rationing from Congress as well as sniping from other government departments.

However, it's conceded here that almost anyone who has a notion can work up a feud with Interior Secretary "Curmudgeon" Ickes. His 39 war jobs provide plenty of takers. Ickes' fight with WLB and OWI Director Elmer Davis over his magazine article "Crisis in Coal" was just one of many intra-family brushes that came into the open.

The Chester Davis - Claude Wickard-Henderson row made news for a few days and ended in War Food Administrator Davis' leaving after only 90 days in office; Wickard being sidetracked; and the appointment of Marvin Jones as WFA head, with many of the powers that previously had been held by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The Cordell Hull-Sumner Welles feud was another that had been sputtering for years, but when the explosion came, President Roosevelt had to accept Welles' resignation as Undersecretary of State.

The granddaddy of all these internecine quarrels was that between Vice President Wallace and Commerce Secretary and RFC Head Jesse Jones. So serious was this outburst that the President gave them both a public spanking.

These are only some of outstanding and bitter feuds. The war effort has been an almost endless succession of them.

Church Day Is Observed Here At Grace Church

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Grace Church observed Church Day on Wednesday with Mrs. Rose Hughey presiding at the business session. Mrs. Annetta Rowe's devotionals were taken from the 121st Psalm. Mrs. Weber French and Miss Cordelia McCafferty sang a duet entitled "Whispering Hope," accompanied by Mrs. Mable Blessing at the piano. Mrs. Hughey, the president, announced that Prayer Week would be observed October 25 to November 11. After a closing prayer, the group adjourned to the dining room for a covered dish luncheon, with Mrs. Mable Blessing's circle as hostesses.

The afternoon program, capably planned by Mrs. Blessing, was opened with Mrs. Charles McCoy playing a very beautiful piano medley. Her brother, Mr. Franklyn Ashley, gave a vocal solo, "Pearls by the Way" and was accompanied by his sister at the piano.

The highlight of the program was a most interesting talk by Miss Bernice O'Brian. She used as her subject, the society's theme of the year, "The Lord's Song in a Strange Land." She discussed the Christian woman's attitude toward extermination, segregation, subjugation, patronization, and brotherhood of man, toward peoples of other lands, people who look different than we, dress differently, eat differently, and act differently. She presented a direct challenge to the group as to whether we are keeping up with the change taking place and whether we are ready for our men and women who will be coming home from the conflict overseas. She urged each and everyone to prepare themselves, first by becoming more understanding of the meaning of the "brotherhood of man" and to learn to understand and appreciate the Holy Bible by regular and systematic reading of the Bible, also to be willing to share our work and experiences in church undertakings.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar, spokesman for the Nazi high command, is giving the German public a blunt disclosure of the Reich's peril, and this column has been asked to explain the phenomenon of Hitlerdom dealing more or less truthfully with the people.

Dittmar even has gone to the extreme of picturing a back-to-the-wall stand. He says his country's fate is indeed in the hands of the last reserves. Why should he be passing out such strong mustard to a public which until now has been told that Germany had the war in a sack?

We get the answer in General Eisenhower's declaration that "battles will soon be fought on German soil." The Allies are massing men and armor for the assault on the Reich's western frontier. The Russians have renewed their drive.

Dittmar is telling the approximate truth because the Nazi dictatorship dare not let the people come up against invasion without warning. They've been codded along with Propaganda Minister Goebbels' lies about certain victory. Up until now the facts about German defeats have been withheld or sugar-coated.

The shock of discovering the brutal truth through an unexpected Allied invasion of the homeland would likely break morale. So Dittmar is trying to bridge the huge gap between Goebbels' lies and the truth in an effort to create a spirit of resistance.

Meantime Hitler is combing the Reich for every man and youth capable of carrying a rifle, and these "last reserves," as Dittmar calls them will be thrown into the defenses of the Siegfried Line in the West, and into the Oder River fortifications when the Red armies approach.

By withdrawing to the shorter line of his western frontier (as also will have to do soon in the East) the Fuehrer is increasing the relative strength of his battle-front. By flinging every old man and boy into the reserves he will fill more gaps.

These forces at best won't be strong enough to hold the Siegfried Line, or any other line, for long. However, they may be sufficient to enable the dictator to put up a nasty fight—providing he can maintain the morale of his troops and the civilian population. It may be that the Allies will have to conquer every square mile of Germany before the Hitlerites finally are crushed.

As was to be expected, the Nazis' wild retreat in Western Europe is slowing up in many places with their approach to their own frontier. They are showing greater resistance. The Russians also report fierce fighting on their front, clearly indicating that the Hitlerites aren't finished yet.

Moreover we've had the inevitable slackening in General Patton's amazing drive for lack of supplies. It would have been a miracle if this hadn't happened in view of the unbelievable amount of territory he has covered in such short time.

This is a reminder that we shouldn't expect wholesale invasion of Germany to take place immediately.

2 COUNTY MEN AMONG 19 SAVED WHEN BOAT LOST

Boys Float in Channel Four Hours; Then Participate in Invasion

Pvt. John Philip Douglas, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Douglas, 834 Briar Avenue, and Cpl. Sam Coil, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Coil of Bookwalter, today were the Distinguished Unit Badge, presented to them as members of a battalion which led the attack on the Normandy beachhead when the invasion of France began June 6.

Earning the right to wear the royal blue badge in its frame of chased gold was not easy. They were among 19 survivors when the boat, presumably a landing craft, taking them to the beach sank a dozen miles off the coast. They bobbed about on choppy channel waters for four hours before a minesweeper rescued them. A letter from Pvt. Douglas to his parents partially told the story.

The two boys have been together since they entered the service 17 months ago. They have been overseas for nine months. Pvt. Douglas worked a few months at Patterson Field after his graduation from WHS in 1942. Then he entered the service.

Of the battalion, "Stars and Stripes," army newspaper published overseas, said: "The battalion, which headed the assault on the Normandy beach, fought for 16 hours against overwhelming enemy fire at the risk of being engulfed by the rising tide. The battalion was briefed to lead the attack on the beach."

Fayette Marine Wounded In War in South Pacific

A Fayette County Marine and his mother today are convalescing, one from battle wounds and the other from a major operation, thousands of miles apart.

Pfc. Robert W. Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ford of the Waterloo Pike, was hit in the back and shoulder during the fighting with the Japs on one of the unidentified South Pacific Islands on July 22, and the following day his mother underwent an operation, unaware that her son was being treated for wounds at the same time.

It was not until Mrs. Ford was well on the way to recovery that, Pfc. Ford's parents received a letter from him telling of his injury. A short time later, his parents were notified by the War Department that he had been wounded. The fighting Marine had written that he had been wounded in the shoulder and the War Department said his injuries were in his back. His parents are still without details.

Pfc. Ford, now 22 years old, was graduated from Madison Mills High School and had worked at the Curtiss-Wright plant in Columbus before he went into the Marine Corps in September of 1942. He received his training at Paris Island, New River, N. C., and Niland, Calif. He has been fighting the Japs on South Pacific islands for more than a year and a half.

His brother, David L. Ford now serving "somewhere in France," was promoted to sergeant recently.

SOME OF FOODS ARE TAKEN OFF RATIONED LIST

Wartime Restrictions on Several Processed Items To Be Eased Sept. 17

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—(AP)—Several processed food items will be removed from rationing Sept. 17, James F. Byrnes, director of war mobilization, announced today.

Byrnes announced the "unrationing" of the following:

Fruit spreads: All varieties of jams, jellies and fruit butters. (Fruit butters were removed from rationing effective Sept. 3 by the Office of Price Administration, but the other spreads still require blue points).

Canned vegetables: Asparagus beans (fresh lima), corn, peas, pumpkin or squash, mixed vegetables.

Related products (canned): Baked beans, tomato sauce, Tomato paste, tomato pulp or puree, soups, baby foods.

Marvin Jones, war food administrator, who decides what items OPA is to ration, told Byrnes available and prospective supplies justify removing the items from the ration list.

Here are present point values of some of the items going off the ration list.

Asparagus, No. 2 can (18 ounces), 10; fresh lima beans, 25; peas, 5; pumpkin or squash, 15.

Baby foods cost one point for the commonly used small can. Baked beans cost 13 points for a No. 2 can, soups 3 points for a can of 10 to 14 ounces.

YOUNG WORKERS ADVISED TO GO BACK TO SCHOOL

Employers Told by WMC Not To Keep Youths Out of Class Rooms

With school in running order again, Ward C. Miller, USES manager here, has warned employers they should not retain boy workers at the cost of their returning to school. He spoke in endorsing the activities of the Back-to-School Committee of the Ohio State Council of Defense. He suggested that wherever possible employers should replace such workers with women.

"The War Manpower Commission has always held that wherever possible students should complete at least the equivalent of a high school education so as to be of the greatest possible value to their country as workers. This is especially true in communities where schools provide courses which equip students with skills urgently needed in industry, K. F. Ermlich, 11th WMC area director of the War Manpower Commission, said.

Such courses are the auto mechanics course and the airplane mechanics course at WHS. Miller pointed out that the war effort is now urgently calling for the making of some few hundred items which are absolutely essential to early victory. He said that it may be necessary in some labor shortage areas to continue to enlist the help of high school youth in supervised work-school programs. This would be in accordance with WMC policy, he added.

HEAVY TRUCK TIRES NOT TO BE MORE PLENTIFUL

POET'S CORNER

"WHATEVER I DO"

I sit around the whole day through
Thinking of no one and nothing—but you.
You're in my heart and you're there to stay
Never to part or to go away.

I miss you like I'd miss the trees
Or the sky, or the wind and the breeze
And someday I'll meet you and greet you
And we'll go on together like we used to do.

We'll recall old times and familiar faces
All our fun and pleasant places
And I'll look forward to meeting you
"Up there" where everything is true.

Tho I may shed a million tears
I'll look back on those happy years
So until we meet again I'll be thinking of you
And you'll be in my heart—Whatever I do.

The above poem was dedicated by Miss Hodson to her cousin, S-Sgt. Robert H. Kirk who was killed while on a training flight when his plane crashed in the San Bernardino Mountains in California March 3. Sgt. Kirk was reported missing until his body was found May 11, 1944.

EDWIN YEOMAN IS COMMENDED FOR GOOD WORK

Squadron Commander and His Outfit Praised by Admiral Hill

A 7th AAF BASE IN THE MARIANAS—(Special to the Record-Herald)—First Lt. Edwin T. Yeoman, RFD No. 4, Washington C. H., O., along with other members of his 7th AAF bomber squadron, has been commended by Rear Admiral H. W. Hill, (several words censored) for support given American ground forces during the battle of Tinian.

"This 7th AAF bomber squadron was most helpful and cooperative during the entire Tinian operation," Admiral Hill said. "The work involved was of a most exacting nature and any mistakes might have proved fatal to groups of our forces. The exactness of fire and the accuracy of their low level bombing attacks were of high precision and of excellent quality."

During the week beginning July 26, Lt. Yeoman's squadron made 58 low level bombing and strafing sorties, the admiral disclosed. At the time, the Marines were stubbornly pushing their lines toward the southern end of the island. The 7th AAF bombers aided them by pouring more than 200 projectiles from their 75mm cannon and 37,000 rounds from .50 caliber machine guns in strafing attacks on Jap positions hidden in dense forests. "These factors, added to the remarkable coordination of ground and air support, were of vital importance in bringing the Tinian operation to a successful conclusion," declared Admiral Hill, commander of land and air invasion forces on Tinian.

Lt. Yeoman, 23, navigator-bombardier on a 7th AAF bomber, is the son of Mrs. Katie Yeoman of the Yeoman Road. His wife, Eve, lives at RFD Box 379, Oxnard, Calif. He was graduated from Washington High School in 1938.

Mrs. Yeoman and daughter, Denise Elaine, are now at the home of Mrs. Katie Yeoman, having come here from California July 12, and will remain here for the time being, as Lieut. Yeoman is expecting to be home late this year, for a visit.

Lieut. Yeoman has been overseas seven months, having been stationed in the Hawaiian Islands two months, and since then has been in three major engagements against the Japs, at Saipan, Marianas and Carolines.

He entered the service three years ago.

Big Ten Coaches Bear Down As Football Opening is Near

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—(P)—With the season's opening football games at some western conference schools only a little more than a week away, coaches yesterday began bearing down in practice sessions and picking tentative lineups.

At Ann Arbor, where Michigan opens with the Iowa Sea-hawks Sept. 16, rain put a damper on the first intensive pass defense workout of Coach Fritz Crisler's squad.

Coach Carroll Widdoes' Ohio State gridders spent yesterday sharpening their pass attack with Freshman Quarterback Tom Keane and veteran Les Horvath doing most of the pitching. Later the first team went through a long defensive drill against the aerial game.

Four freshmen appear to have won first string jobs in the Illinois line: Chuck Smith, Elgin, Ill., tackle; Les Bingaman, Gary, Ind., tackle; Lou Agase, Evans-ton, Ill., end, and Frank Hurtle, Taylorville, Ill., guard.

Some excellent punting by veteran end Frank Bauman and halfback Charlemagne Elliott featured the Purdue drill yesterday as Coach Cecil Isbell sought to develop protection for his kickers.

At Iowa City the Pre-flight Seahawks began sharpening of offensive tactics with Bob Smith, 185 pound former Tulsa half-back, shaping up as the spearhead of the running attacks.

Two fullback candidates at Northwestern were shifted to guard yesterday as coaches sought to fortify these positions. They were Bob Burkett and Ray Jakubowski, both of whom saw active service in the Navy before being transferred to the V-12 training unit. Coach Harry Stuhldreher gained an experienced center yesterday when Bob Fick, Los Angeles, who played on the west coast with a Navy team, showed up for drills at Wisconsin.

Red Williams, veteran Minnesota left halfback, was absent from the Gophers' practice session, for the third straight day, giving Bud Gullikson, Billings, Mont., an opportunity to perform.

Development of an aerial attack was the chief concern of Coach "Slip" Madigan, who said he was in the market for a passing combination that would click as he sent his University of Iowa grid squad through scrimmage.

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(P)—The major and minor baseball leagues have scheduled their winter meetings for the same days—the big leagues December 5-6-7 in New York and the minors starting December 6 at Buffalo. . . Maybe Judge Bramham figures that's the best way to keep the major leaguers from interfering with his charges. . . Latest tip on the next national hockey league president is Dr. William G. Hardy, University of Alberta professor and amateur hockey hewig. . . The job may be offered to Connie Smythe first, but nobody thinks he'd be interested in the kind of dough it pays.

Dodgers Didn't Dodge
When the Newport News Dodgers were playing the Richmond Colts in a Piedmont league game the other day, the Richmond catcher, Cabrera, tried to pull a fast one by falling to the ground and clutching his ankle when a pitch hit the dirt near him. . . The ump didn't fall for it and sent him back to the plate. . . A couple of innings later Cabrera tried to block the plate when a Dodger slid home. . . When the dust cleared, Cabrera was writhing on the ground again—and that time it wasn't a gag. He had to leave the game.

One Minute Sports Page
When the Pirates swept four games against the Cardinals recently it was the first time the Cards had been blanked in a four-game series since July 1940, when the Bucs also did the trick. . . Kentucky sports scribes are calling 16-year-old Roger Yost of Kansas City, youngest member of the U. of K. football squad, "Kansas City Kiddie."

Service Department
Scout Paul Krichell tabs Jack Phillips, Yankee farmhand now at the Sampson Naval Training Center, as one player who's sure to make good in the big leagues after the war. . . After going through some of the rigorous routine required of paratroopers during their first week of jump training, former Yankee and Indian Roy Weatherly remarked: "If I get through, I'll make Charley Keller look like the 'before' in those physical culture advertisements."

2 Rams Shine In 9-0 Win

CLEVELAND, Sept. 7.—(P)—Although the Cleveland Rams' 9 to 0 triumph over the Boston Yanks last night didn't count in the National Football League standings, the game provided Coach Aldo Donelli an opportunity to appraise some of his new talent.

Among the new names who distinguished themselves in the exhibition played in Cleveland Stadium before 112,275 were Tommy Coliella and Albie Reisz. Coliella, recently acquired by the Rams in a trade with the Detroit Lions, settled the issue in the first two minutes of play with a 60-yard touchdown run on the second play from scrimmage.

Reisz, the 170-pound Lorain, O., back who starred at Southern Louisiana, distinguished himself as a runner, passer, defensive player and especially as a punter.

Reds Give Up Hope for 1944 As They Build for Future

CINCINNATI, Sept. 7.—(P)—Granting, as most people do, that their best bet now is to look to 1945, the Cincinnati Reds think they have some good new talent lined up simply because it's the first time they've heard from the scout for a year.

The prospect is Albert Lipke, a 24-year-old Scotch-Irishman, six-foot-four but 4F, now playing first base and outfield for Seattle in Pacific coast league around .320 for 100 games.

Such a figure in that league is not too impressive, but what impresses the Reds is the fact that Scout Pat Patterson likes Albert. Pat, discoverer of Frank McCormick, has sent the Reds just three other players in the past three years.

Uncle Sam intercepted on all three—pitchers Ewell Blackwell and Ken Peterson and outfielder Bob Usher—but the Reds look for them to be major leaguers when the war is over.

Cash and three other players go to Seattle in consideration for Lipke.

Other talent on tap for fall and spring delivery include three players purchased from Birmingham of the southern association and ten recalled from other clubs.

The Birmingham contributions are pitchers Howard Fox, who has won 19 and lost 7 and reports immediately, and John Orphal, who has a no-hitter, and infielder Jodie Beeler.

Sixteen-year-old pitcher Joe Nuxhall, Bob Ferguson, Kermit Wahl, Frank Kelleher, Al Lake-man, Len Rice, Lonnie Goldstein, Chuchua Ramos, Bob Malloy, and Bob Katz are the other rookies to be given their look at the national league again.

mated or actual number of casualties in France for July and August in his summary today.

The Army casualties for all theaters since the start of the war based on reports to next of kin through August 21 totaled 305,795, an increase of 20,957 since the casualty report made a week ago. Navy casualties reported up to now total 59,964, an increase of 1,611 from the previous week. This gives a combined Army-Navy casualty total of 365,759.

In his weekly review, Stimson said "we know that the great bulk of the German army in western Europe has been destroyed or crippled," and that the effective forces left seem insufficient for the task of defending Germany. On the other hand, Stimson said, Allied forces are growing in strength and in the "momentum of success." He observed that supply lines must catch up with the speed of the combat units.

AUDITORS SOFTBALL CHAMPS

The team that could beat the API boys here only 6 to 1 in a special game about a month ago today held the softball championship of the east-central region and got ready to go after the World title in Cleveland Sept. 16-21.

Ferguson's Auditors, who call their home Columbus, defeated the Cincinnati Coca Colas, the defending champions, 1 to 0, in the regional tournament final at Cleveland Wednesday night.

The game's only tally came in the second inning when Clayton George collected a single, one of the two hits the Fergusons got off Early Shelton. The next batter walked, putting George on second, from where he scored on a wild throw.

Clyde (Dizzy) Kirkendall gave the defending titlists five hits, walked five and struck out three.

Kirkendall, a veteran hurler, has two no-hit games to his record this season. He formerly was a star softball pitcher with Toledo teams.

when the government disclosed that the Germans had sent about 7,250 winged bombs against southern England.

Some of the newsmen, at Sandys' press conference brought away the impression that the Allied advance along the French coast had knocked out the Germans' V-2, reputedly a much heavier rocket bomb than the V-1 launched against London, before it could be used.

AA FLAG CLINCHED BY BREWS

(By the Associated Press)
The shouting and the tumult up Milwaukee way was led by Manager Casey Stengel and Pitcher Julio Acosta last night as the Brewers hung up a 6-0 victory over St. Paul, clinching their second straight American Association pennant.

The triumph in the first game of a doubleheader paved the way for the Brewers' fifth title in league history. In the second game the Brewers tried to add to their 21 doubleheader victories, when they tied the game 4-4 with a three run rally in the ninth.

The Saints, however, came back with 2 run rally in the tenth, while the best Milwaukee could do was to ring up one score.

The Brewers, who had monopolized first place since the start of the campaign, nailed the pennant to the mast early in the first game when they scored four runs in the first frame.

At Toledo, the second place Mudhens, behind Lefty Earl Jones' three hit pitching, defeated Indianapolis 4-0, in the series opener. Outfielder George Corona got three of Toledo's eight hits, while Jones was letting down the tribe with three singles. Stanley Klopp, who hurled the first seven innings for the visitors, was the loser, allowing six hits and one run.

about V-2," Sandys said. "We do know quite a lot about it. In a very few days time I feel that the press will be walking all over these places in France and will know a great deal more than we do now."

Sandys asserted: "Except possibly for the last few shots, the battle of London is over." The defense afforded by the balloon barrage, anti-aircraft guns and fighters was perfected to such a high degree that 97 of 101 bombs fired at England Aug. 28 were shot down, he said.

This, coupled with the Allied encirclement of the robot bomb coast, has ended all but the threat of robots launched from planes—carried pickaback style on Heinkel-111s.

"This form of attack can, of course be carried on from airfields in the heart of Germany," he said. "We cannot therefore as yet assure the public that the flying bomb attacks will cease altogether. We can, however, be reasonable confident that the scale of attack will be very small."

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—AP—The wheat futures market turned strong in late trading today and moved to new highs for the session, showing gains of seven-eighths to two cents a bushel near the close.

Firmness of wheat and buying by a prominent professional operator caused rye futures to rally sharply after they had established new seasonal lows. Early in the session September rye sold as much as 35¢ cents lower than the high established for that delivery last January.

The rally in wheat and rye found many local traders short in the oats pit and when they started to cover the market was bare of offerings. At the close wheat was 1 1/2 to 2 1/4 higher than yesterday's close, September $1.54 1/2. Oats were 3/4 lower to 1 1/4 higher, September 55¢-56¢. Rye was 1/2 lower to 3/4 higher, September 55¢-56¢. QUOTAS ARE SET FOR WAR FUND DRIVE IN COUNTY

$24,900 Campaign Will Help Servicemen's Organization Primarily

Fayette County War Fund committeemen today are rounding out their lists of solicitors in preparation for the $24,900 drive to begin in the middle of October. Walter Rettig, campaign chairman, said Thursday morning after a meeting of committeemen Wednesday night.

Sub-quotas for the wards, townships and special divisions of the War Fund were set also. Rettig said those who attended the meeting—and almost the entire committee turned out—showed "plenty of interest in the whole thing."

Soliciting for part of the total will begin around October 1. Rettig said. Special gifts, retail and chains and utilities were the divisions he mentioned where soliciting would begin early.

The bulk of the $24,900 sought here will go to aid servicemen, particularly in USO work, it was pointed out. An estimated 60 percent of the money will go for that purpose.

Individual quotas set here are:

Special Gifts	$6,500
Industrial	6,000
Retail	2,000
Chains and Utilities	1,000
Ward One	1,000
Ward Two	1,000
Ward Three	700
Ward Four	800
Concord Twp.	500
Green Twp.	400
Jasper Twp.	700
Jefferson Twp.	1,100
Madison Twp.	400
Marion Twp.	400
Paint Twp.	600
Perry Twp.	500
Union Twp.	700
Wayne Twp.	600

Total $24,900

Special gifts chairman is Carroll Halliday; industrial, Emmett Passmore; retail, Mac Devos; chains and utilities, Fred Rost and G. C. Krouse; ward one, Dr. G. A. Handley and George Campbell; ward two, Harold McCord and Billie Wilson; ward three, George Pensyl and Ralph Clark; ward four, W. W. Humphries and Ambrose Elliott.

W. W. Montgomery and Ralph Nisley head the list of township committeemen, but no definite list of township chairmen has been compiled yet.

611,000 MILES SAVED ON MILK ROUTES IN AREA

Conservation of Gasoline, Tires and Wear on Trucks Cited

An estimated 611,192 miles of travel are being saved with a corresponding saving of war-weeded tires, gasoline and trucks by milk dealers here through the operation of a voluntary industry committee plan of conservation, A. P. Dankert, Office of Defense Transportation District Manager, said here today.

The conservation plan covers an area which involves the transportation of milk from producer to processors in parts, or all of Fayette, Fairfield, Ross, Pickaway, Madison, Highland, Clinton, Perry, Licking and Hocking counties.

The conservation plan created by the committee provides for full utilization of all trucks by abolishing less than capacity loads, by eliminating overlapping routes and special pick-ups.

"The record of the local milk industry compares favorably with the best records made in any section of the country," Dankert said.

The plan, the ODT official pointed out, goes far toward providing an even flow of a vital food commodity to the consuming public and averts the possibility of a dislocation of distribution through an untimely breakdown of delivery facilities.

"Replacement of existing trucks is almost impossible," Dankert said. "The existing equipment must be conserved to the fullest and the program of the milk industry committee is a long step in that direction."

Of the total amount of mileage saved in this area, tens of thousands of miles saved in Fayette County, where consolidation of milk routes and other steps have been taken to conserve gasoline, tires and trucks.

DAN CUPID IS BAD SECOND IN LOCAL COURTS

Divorces Past Two Months Greatly Exceed Number Of Marriages

Dan Cupid came out a very bad second with his little golden arrows during July and August. Some of his darts must have been poisoned, judging by the court records here.

Divorce suits filed in the Fayette County Common Pleas Court during July and August greatly outnumbered marriage licenses issued for the same months the records disclose.

During July, 10 divorce suits were filed and five marriage licenses issued, or just half as many marriages as divorces.

In August, 13 divorce suits were filed and seven marriage licenses issued.

The record for the two months is very extraordinary, and considerably worse than the batting average during the same months in 1943.

In July of last year, eight divorce suits were filed and 11 marriage licenses issued.

In August, 1943, the number of divorces reached 11 and marriages 16, which is more like a normal ratio of divorces and marriages in Fayette County.

Of the 10 suits for divorce filed in July, eight of the plaintiffs were women, and of the 13 divorces suits in August, 10 were women.

Absence of a large number of young men in the armed service has greatly reduced the number of marriages in Fayette County, and the let-down that usually accompanies and follows a war is in part responsible for the increased number of divorces recently, it is believed.

CANNING PLANT CALLS FOR HELP IN TOMATO PACK

Entire Pack of Tomatoes Is Purchased for the Armed Forces

The Fayette Canning Company has issued a call for 25 additional women to help with the tomato pack, to report at once, or if they can not work full time, they are wanted for part time to meet the call for help.

The company's entire tomato pack has been purchased by the government and every effort is being made to pack the crop in good condition.

The crop is expected to be a normal one and all of it is being packed in cans which have been subjected to special treatment to resist rust and the packing cases are of special fibre and each case must be banded to insure standing up under rough handling.

The plant will also pack pumpkins and the crop will be late.

Completion of the corn pack will be made within the next two weeks. The crop has been about half that of normal, due to the drought.

It is expected that the tomato pack when completed late this month, will be about normal and the quality good.
